

1. 文化・社会系 Culture and Society Field			CS-S2
授業科目名 Course Title	英米文学Ⅲ British and American Literature III	単位数 Credit	2
担当教員 Instructor	本田 安都子 HONDA Atsuko	開講学期 Semester	春学期 Spring
キーワード Keywords	American literature, American culture, Short stories, Active reading

授業概要 Course summary
The purpose of this course is for students to gain a better understanding of American history and culture through reading a variety of short stories by major American fiction writers.
到達目標 Course goal
Gain deeper understanding of American history and culture. Develop reading skills in English by reading American short stories. Develop English speaking skills by having a discussion and giving a presentation.
授業内容 Course description
This course aims to help students become an ACTIVE READER in English. You will read several short stories written by American writers of various social and cultural backgrounds. As you read those stories, you will acquire the art of active reading as well as develop your skills in speaking, listening and writing in English. You will also learn about the US society through reading the short stories together with a textbook on American history.
準備学習（予習・復習）等 Preparation / Review
Students should finish reading assigned stories before coming to class. Students also have to write a response paper on the assigned text and bring it to class.
授業形式 Class style
Lectures by the instructor, student presentations and discussion
成績評価の方法・基準 Method of evaluation
Response papers / Presentation / Final paper
教科書・参考書等 Textbook and material
TBA
受講要件・予備知識 Prerequisite
None
その他の注意事項 Note
Students are expected to finish the assigned reading before each class, and to actively participate in class discussion in English. Part of lectures by instructor will be delivered in Japanese.